

OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE

Ben Brandt

Chair

Ben Brandt has worked at Idaho Power for over 15 years. He began working at Idaho Power as an Energy Management Systems (EMS) Analyst, and after a short time in a support role for grid operations, he returned to lead the EMS group. During this time, he worked closely with the reliability coordinator unit to develop and pilot the hosted advanced applications service and oversaw the cleanup and enhancement of Idaho Power's Network Model. He also led the transmission and balancing operations as the chief dispatcher before moving into his current role as director of load serving operations, including transmission, generation and balancing operations, distribution operations and the operations technology group.
