Southern California Edison Company (“SCE”) appreciates the opportunity to provide the California Independent System Operator (“CAISO”) with brief comments on the CAISO presentation entitled “Interconnection Standards Review for Renewable Integration.” This presentation was the subject of a stakeholder meeting on February 19, 2010.

SCE supports the initiative to develop Interconnection Standards for Renewable Integration discussed in the presentation entitled “Interconnection Standards review for Renewable Integration” and given at the Stakeholder meeting on February 19, 2010. In the presentation, it does become evident that some specifics are still unclear. To ensure that the appropriate standards are developed, we believe it is important that the CAISO and the Participating Transmission Owners continue to collaborate in a timely manner to finalize the proposed interconnection requirements for renewable generation. This effort should be performed in conjunction with the ongoing efforts by the NERC task force in developing the NERC Voltage and Frequency ride through criteria so the standards echo one another.
