www.bearecon.com.

Founded in 2014, Berkeley Economic Advising and Research is a California professional partnership dedicated to quality economic analysis. The three founders and principals are internationally recognized experts with over 75 years of combined experience at the forefront of economic policy research and assessment. The group has authored more than 30 books and been published in over 300 professional journal articles and book chapters. Individually and together, we have advised national and regional governments in over 50 countries, a broad array of nongovernmental and enterprise institutions around the globe, and many multilateral and bilateral institutions. In the last category alone, we have executed over 20 contracts with the World Bank, 25 with the Asian Development Bank, and over 30 with the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization and other UN institutions.

BEAR is headquartered in Berkeley, CA, and has operated in over 20 countries.

BEAR provides:

- Analytical, advisory, and administrative support for public and private institutions.
- Facilitation, publication, and dissemination of independent and sponsored research.
- Development and dissemination of research data.
- Training and capacity building.
- Development of innovative technological solutions for complex economic, energy, and environmental issues.
- Energy and environmental policy dialogue at the international, national, and local levels.
